PERSONAL AND SOCIETY.

The Illumination and Music. The conglomeration of topics under the head of society notes this week is due to the fact that there is nothing but politics plentiful. The most brilliant event of the week was the illumination on Tuesday night. The attendance was very large, as the number of invitations was not limited, and everybody and their friends were expected to come. Neither was it a full-dress affair. While many handsome costumes might been worn, they were not particularly distinguishable. The prevailing colors were red, white and blue, and these were used in Unlike most gatherings, of floral embellishments was especially noticeable. No mantels were banked, and rare vases, filled with rarer flowers, did not grace every available space. For months, even years, many of the elite have been sighing for some new kind of social entertainment, but it was not until the country-atlarge came to the rescue that Indianapolitans were enabled to enjoy something unequaled in the line of novelty and excitement. Those who sent regrets, still regret, for those who were fortunate enough to attend are still filling their ears with lurid descriptions. Music was furnished by large, untrained bands of musicians, who also did their best to make the occasion a memorable out. The invitations were general (Harrison), and were accepted by guests from all parts of the country, some of the most distinguished met in the United States. The several hosts were assisted by nearly everybody in town, so there is not the usual wondering "Why, how in the world did Mr. and Mrs. So-and-So come to have the other Mr. and Mrs. So-and-So to assist them." A similar event is expected some time this week, and as this style of entertainment seems to have caught the popular idea others may be expected to follow for several months

Music has been dominant during the past week, and musicians have had the pleasure of listening to a number of the finest players in America Mme. Fannie Bloomfield, Miss Neally Stevens, Dr. Louis Maas, and the young prodigy, Miss Birdie Bly. For the coming week mtsicians from all parts of the United States are interested in the Music Teachers' National Association, which will meet in Chicago the 3d, 4th, 5th and 6th. The association has undertaken the American composers, and the following article from the New York Tribune gives some idea of what has been accomplished:

At the music teachers' national convention, which will meet in Chicago during the first weeks of this month, the concerts will be under the direction of Mr. Thomas, who will employ his own orchestra. A large choir has been organized for the purpose, and is now engaged in the choral works which are to be brought forward. Though unable to maintain a series of festivals like Cincinnati, Chicago has accomplished notable things chorally, and if the choir prove worthy of Mr. Thomas and his band, it is safe to say there is not a single foreign composer who would not be glad of the opportunity to have a work of his presented to the public under such favorable auspices. The American composers whose music is to be per-formed at the swelfth annual meeting of the association are to be congratulated. Among those who will attend from this city are Mr. Max Leckner, president of the M. T. N. A.; Mrs. Flora M. Hunter, ex-president of I. M. T. A.;

Mrs. H. V. Shepherd and daughter entertained a number of their friends at their home on Pennsylvania street, last Thursday evening, in honor of their guest, Miss Mary Shepherd, of Dansville, N. Y. Proing, and there was a warm and spirited contest for the handsome and unique favors. Honors were awarded to Miss Nellie Smith and Mr. Charles L. Stagman, of Cincinnati. Miss Shepherd left on Friday to spend a few weeks with friends in Chicago before returning

Mr. Frank C. Payne, of the Chicago News, and Miss Mary E. Riley, daughter of Dr. Reuben Riley, of Greenfield, and sister of James Whitcomb Riley, were quietly married last evening, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Henry Eitel, No. 607 North Mississippi street. The ceremony was performed at 8:30 o'clock, by Rev. Dr. Jeffery, paster of the First Baptist Church. Only the intimate friends of the two families were present. After a wedding supper the newly married couple took the night train for Chicago, which will be their home. The bride is a heartiful and charming round lady presenting beautiful and charming young lady, possessing many of the accomplishments and talents which have made her brother so popular. While her home has been at Greenfield, she has spent much of her time with her sister in this city, and made many friends, who will regret her departure from Indianapolis society. The groom is the son of a manufacturer at Wabash. He graduated three years ago at DePauw University, and then went into the newspaper profession—first in St. Louis and afterward in Chicago.

A very interesting gathering last night was the celebration of the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Greegor at their home, No. 470 Bellefontaine avenue. The house was decorated with a profusion of potted plants. From the mantel in the parlor to the chandelier were festoons of vines, making a canopy under which the host and hostess received their friends. Over the folding doors were the dates 1863-1888 in evergreen and green oats, and the portiers were bordered with a fringe of silver bangles. The hostess wore a pretty costume of black lace, trimmed in daisies, and the same flower formed into bouquets were the favors for the guests. Assistance in entertaining was given Mrs. Greeger by her daughter. Miss Margaret Belle, and sisters, Mrs. C. D. Johnson and Miss Margaret Logsdon. On June 30, 1863, Miss Prudene Logsdon was married to Jeremiah W. Greeger, at the residence of her stepfather, Mr. Wm. Love, on Feat Washington street, and some of the guests pressured. East Washington street, and some of the guests present on that occasion attended last night, notably Rev. Dr. Kendricks, who performed the ceremony. Others from other cities sent handsome gifts in silver.
Among the guests present were Rev. Dr. Tincher and wife, Rev. H. A. Edson and Rev. Mr. Wydman and Washington's Exclusive Society Aghast. A correspondent writes to the Waterbury

(Conn.) American: There is a section of Washington society-the sternly exclusive set-which affects to regard with disdain and aims to keep at a distance the new people whom the fortunes of political war are constantly sending to the front here. These severely select people assume the attitude to-ward the mixed official society of the capital which the vieille noblesse in France assumed toward the second Empire crowd. Some years ago I heard an old dame of the exclusive circles say that she would not receive General Grant into her house. When Mrs. Cieveland became the rage, however, the "selects" in due time thawed out and smiled upon her, and in consideration of her beauty and brightness and general refinement they consented to overlook her accidency and newness and accept her as one of themselves. Of late, however, it is said, the "selects" have come to regret their generous treatment of the young woman, and, it is probable, will drop

The trouble, it seems, arises from Mrs. Cleveland continuing to receive as her guest and to treat as an intimate one Miss Katherine Willard, a beautiful girl, who possesses a voice of wonderful sweetness, and who was a schoolmate of the mistress of the White House. When Miss Wil-Mrs. Cleveland, she was received with wide-open arms by society of all grades in consideration of her girlish beauty and her exquisite voice. Along toward spring society was shocked by the announcement that Miss Willard had accepted a position as instructress in a local young ladies' school. Of course, society people said, they would be compelled to cease to know her, although it would cost them no little regret, as she was such a dear, sweet girl; and, of course, they thought Mrs. Cleveland would also cease to receive Miss Willard But, to their dismay, Mrs. Cleveland continues to associate with Miss Willard just as if the latter were not a working girl and actually has ber now as a guest at Oak View.

It has been a fearfully trying ordeal for the exclusives, but it is said they have set their faces as firmly as is consistant with good form, and resolved that they owe it to their sacred exclusiveness, come what may, to drop Mrs. Cleveland as well as her working-girl friend.

Diseases of Wine-Tasters.

Deutsche Medizinal Zeitung. The diseases of wine-tasters were studied by Donnet, of Bordeaux, and Dr. C. Marandon, of Dijon. Wine-tasters are frequently suffering with disturbances similar to alcoholism, although the claret-tasters do not swallow the wine, but, on the contrary eject it, and even rinse their mouths afterwards. In one case of Dr. Donnet's a man thirty-two years old used to taste every day thirty or forty samples of wine, occasionally liquors and rum, without ever swallowing any part of them. After two years he became very excitable, lost his appetite, did not sleep well, and suffered with disturbances of sensibility, pains in the breast, a feeling of weakness, difficulty in breathing. He improved after abandoning his profession, although a nervous debility still remained, as noticeable by the facility with which he was set in tears. Another statement made by Dr. Donnet is the great number of ap oplexies in Bordenax, where many persons drink one and a half litres of wine with each meal. This number exceeds the number of apoplexies in any city of the world. Dr. Marandon did not notice any symtoms of intoxication in Burgundy tasters, although some of them would swallow the samples. He remarks that tea tasters always swallow some tea, and this fact, he says, explains the nervous symptoms they are affected with.

Lost Her Charming Shoulders.

A beautiful lady in Paris, belonging to the diplomatic circle, lately met with a most peculiar accident at a ball, to the intense delight of her "bosom friends" of the fair sex. The lady in question were a low-bodied dress of artistic design, which attracted general admiration, but what most riveted the attention of the ball guests were her shoulders of dazzling white. Suddenly her brooch, a splendid cameo, became unfastened, dropped to the ground and broke to pieces. In her alarm the fair owner quickly stooped to pick up the fragments. But this rapid movement caused something still more valuable to fall to the ground, viz., a portion of the charming white shoulders of the lady, a piece of a mass resembling porcelain, delicately touched up in blue and pick. The gentlemen gazed in blank astonishment at the damaged beauty, while the ladies giggled in their pocket-handkerchiefs, and the husband ran for a shawl to con-

THE IRON AND STEEL-WORKERS. All Mills Except Twelve Close Down and Prepare for a Protracted Suspension. PITTSBURG, June 30.—There is no change in the iron situation this morning. Both sides present a firm front, and when the day turns go off this evening all the mills in the West but twelve, operated by non-union men, will close down for an indefinite period. A dispatch from Youngstown, O., reports the mills in the Mahoning valley preparing for a protracted suspension. Notwithstanding the discouraging reports received by the mill men, they do not seem to be worried. Almost all who were spoken to believe the suspension will not continue longer than two or three weeks. A shutdown is always necessary at this time of the year for repairs and stock-taking. The manufacturers, they claim, have used the same arguments for years, and always opposed the Amalgamated Association as vigorously as at present. Since the strike of 1882 the scale has been signed in conference, with but one exception, and that was in 1885, when a strike was declared. One by one the firms signed the scale that year and the strike was over and the mills were all in operation within a month. On the other hand, the manufacturers assert that their mills are in good repair and that they could run all summer, but they will not pay more than $5 a ton for

In speaking of the situation, Charles J. Tranter, a prominent manufacturer of Cincinnati, said: "The conference committees have adjourned sine die, and the mills will be shut down this evening. There are no hard feelings existing between the workmen and manufact urers. It is a matter of business on both sides. We can't suc cessfully make fron with the present wages. The price paid for labor is cheaper in Philadelphia than it is in this section. The time will come when uniform wages will be paid in all parts of the country. If the men here make a point today, they will lose twice as much to-morrow by its operation. The manufacturers cannot retreat from their position. This must be apparent to everybody who understands the situation My opinion is that the great body of the men would be willing to accept the scale, but they are led on by those above them."

The manufacturers expect a few to sign the scale, but they claim that they will be small concerns and that their signing will not affect the situation. At noon the Amalgamated officials received information that the scale had been signed by the Apollo Iron and Steel Company, of Apoilo, Pa. This makes three firms that have signed so far, the other two being the Akron Iron Company, of Akron, O., and the Laughlin and Junction Steel Company, at Mingo, O. The three mills employ about 1.400 men.

Adispatch just received by President Keating of the Manufacturers' Association, from the Kelly Iron Company and the Bellefonte Iron Company, of Ironton, states that they will not sign the scale, even if it is signed by the Pittsburg manufacturers, as they can get their work done cheaper. Mr. Keating says the signing of the scale by the Apollo Company will have no effect, as they were not members of the Mannfacturers' Association. Oliver Brothers & Phillips, the largest firm in the city, signed the scale to-night and their four mills will continue in operation. The Amalgamated people are jubilant over the break, which is a most important one. The firm employs over 3.000 men and is one of the largest in this city D. B. Oliver, who affixed his signature to the scale, was a member of the manufacturers' conference committee, but he was absent from the final meeting, and this gave rise to a report that the firm had decided to concede the demands of their workmen. In an interview tonight, he stated that they were forced to sign the scale on account of contracts that had to be filled. He absented himself from the final conference, because he did not want to make any promises that he could not keep. The scale signed is the same as that in force last year with the exception of a few impor tant concessions made by the Amalgamated association at Mr. Oliver's request. The action of the manufacturers on the matter is awaited with interest, as it is probable the firm will be expelled from the association. The strikers claim that several other firms will sign the scale next week, and that among the number will be Carnegie, Phipps & Co. Dispatches from Cleveland and Youngstown report that the mills at these points have stopped work.

New York, June 30. - Much interest was felt yesterday among iron men in this city in the reings in Pittsburg closely, said to a reporter yesterday that "the manufacturers have been willing all along to make some concessions on factory rules and extras, but have insisted upon the $5 per ton basis. The committee from the men, after long deliberation, finally decided to submit their own scale and that of the manu-facturers to the sub-lodges of the Amalgamated Association for the consideration of the mem-bers. A lodge vote was to be taken upon them, and if two-thirds were in favor of the manufacturers' scale it was to be accepted. If not, the men determined to insist upon the adoption of their own scale by the manufacturers. This action," Mr. Kirchoff said, "was a decided advance on the methods formerly in vogue. The committee from the men hereto fore had met the manufacturers' committee and had decided their differences themselves. Under the new arrangement the scales in dispute were to go to the men, and the manufacturers were to be allowed to reason with their own men. In this way the manufacturers hoped to be able to convince their own employes of the necessity for a reduction. One advantage of this arraccement was that the two parties to the contract were brought directly into contact with each other and the arguments of either side were not weakened by being carried through committees of a more or less partial tendency one way or another." Mr. Kirchoff believed that the finishers, a more intelligent class of men than the puddlers, were acquiring greater influence among the men and might, to some extent, counteract the influence of the loudvoiced and belligerent puddlers, who are always in favor of a strike as a means of settling a MILWAUKEE, June 30 .- The failure of the Iron Manufacturers and the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel-workers at Pittsburg to agree upon a wage scale for the com ing year, necessitates the closing down of the North Chicago Rolling-mill Company's plant at Bay View, and the few mills that have not been closed already will shut down to-night for an indefinite period. The single-blast furnace that has been in operation will continue working. There is no issue between the local societies of the Amalgamated Association and the proprie tors, but as a part of the whole organization they must do as the others do, and await the outcome of the struggle at the seat of war. The North Chicago Company is not a member of the Manufacturers' Association, but it is none the less governed by the action of other mills. The best of feeling exists between Bay View mill and their employes. There has never been any serious differences between them, and all the shut-downs on account of strikes or lockouts that have ever occurred there have been the result of differences elsewhere. Both sides will passively await the decision at Pittsburg.

Advertising for a Position.

Once I advertised myself as seeking the place of governess to children or companion to a lady There was no possible invitation to intrigue in the form of my advertisement, although I never dreamed of avoiding such appearance, never even rembered that a great city is full of harpies snuffing for corruption and scenting it everywhere. Among the perfectly honorable and business-like answers to my advertisements, one or two came that made my very hair stand on end. One invited me, in covertly insulting language, to come and care for his children while his wife was in Europe-if I was under twenty-one! A second was so appalling that I never read it through, and shudder to this day that I ever read so much. None of my business-like answers ever came to anything save one. A gentlemanly person called upon me on Murray Hill. He was very talkative and agreeable, chatted of theaters, churches, popu lar preachers, Greenwood Cemetery, oceansteamers, summer resorts, and new novels. There was nothing to startle me in the visit, although I wondered continually why he did not approach the real object of the interview. Just as I had made up my mind that he probably was waiting for me to introduce it, he looked at his watch, sudden'y started up as if in consternation, saying, "I beg ten thousand pardons. but I had quite forgotten my train. You will allow me to write you upon the subject of your advertisement?" and was gone. A few days after, I received a letter from him, far away Illinois. He wrote that he had intended to have "some fun" during his late visit to New York, and had answered "heaps" of advertisments in pursuit of that intention. "The minute I saw you, however, I saw that 'fun' was not in your line; but I found you so brilliant and charming that I could not get away, although I sat upon pins and needles during every instant of my call. I am a widower, thirty-seven, with two children, an income o -"and thus the letter ran on till it came to the proposal of a correspondence, with a view to and a truthful account of his circumstanceswith one important exception. Instead of being a widower, he was the divorced husband of two wives, and had narrowly missed State prison as

ARE METHODISTS MEAN? Sam Jones Says They Are the Stinglest of All Denominations.

A tall, broad-shouldered man with a great bushy beard, like that of Rip Van Winkle, heavy gray hair, and keen gray eyes peering from behind bushy eyebrows, entered the pavilion at Red Rock this morning. He was plain-ly, almost ill dressed. He had on a worn cutaway coat, a turn-down collar and no necktie. His great hands were browned with exposure, and looked hardened with toil. He looked like a farmer dressed in his Sunday best to attend

This man is Bishop William Taylor, bishop of Africa and the foremost Methodist of the world. Of all of the Methodist bishops, none is so universally loved and respected as be. And he is a learned man, too, a scholar of note and an ora-

Upon the platform was another bishop. He is clerical all over. His coat of broadcloth is of the priestly pattern. His linen is immaculate. His beard is of the formal cut and his handsome face is surmounted with a skull cap. That is Bishop Foss, of Minneapolis. Sam Jones preached an earnest sermon this morning, and the great crowd hung on every word. He chose for his theme, "In Christ

Jesus," and said: "The Christian man is the only man in the world who can stand up and say: 'I never die.' Why, I believe that a great man like St Paul can throw aside the great lump we call death and throw it aside. He simply departs to another world. He's goin' somewhar. Why. Father Hoger, who was with Bishop Pierce when he passed away, he told me how he seemed to swing over the towering spires and paper walls of Paradise. Then he came back, and he smiled as sweetly as a child. He had it right. Father Hoger walked with him to the very edge of eternity, and then he saw him swing over into the arms of God. "Pore little feller who delights in the ballroom and progressive euchre. You've got them in your church. He sin't got much soul. He's a mighty little fellow. He may be passed in on some other grounds than faith. I was on a railroad train the other day, and the conductor pass four or five fellows by. Didn't ask 'em for tickets. Little fellows. Catch the idea? "People talk about bearing a cross. A cross ain't anything to bear. It's something to die on. It ain't anything to tote around; it's something to die on. That's it. When your selfish will runs across Christ's perpendicular will, then "People, sing 'Jesus Paid It All.' Don't much like that song. Thousands of people have sung themselves into hell with it. It's only a half-truth and a half-truth is like a half brick; it is only good to kneck a man down with. I'm like the old farmer who said: "If Jesus paid it all, what does He keep dunning us all the time for? I'll tell you what, Jesus paid all He's goin' to pay and you've got to plank down all you've got. "My, my, my, but the Methodists are stingy. You've got millions in the Northwest, yet I never heard of Methodists here doing any big benevolence, did youl" and the fearless Sam turned to the rich Bishop Foss. "I can think of none," was the reply. "People say, 'I haven't any confidence in Same Jones.' Well, you can write that out, and I'll sign it. I will that. But I have confidence in Jesus Christ. Say, brethren, I've done made up my mind that if the devil gets me, he won't get me on dollars and cents. People cry 'All that Sam Jones is after is money.' Well, what are you here for, anyway! If you stop minister's salary, he'll quit, won't bel 'Sides, taint scriptural to preach for nothin'. Don't the Bible say that those who preach the gospel shall live by it. Say, you old feller with $75,000 or $100,000, d'ye 'spese you can rob God by given' him $100 or $200 a year You can't go to heaven on that basis. Highway robbers go to hell. That's right. Show me man that'll tote fair in money matters and b will tote fair in everything else. Oh, less fit our goods to God. May the time come when t will pour out money to Him. D'ye notice ho few the amens were. That's what makes think the millennium is so far away." This afternoon Rev. J. C. Stont, of St. will preach, and to-night it is probable Bishop Taylor will deliver the discourse.
